

Shortest Story

Ever! (So short, that it starts on the cover!)

Once upon a time (okay, actually in December), on an otherwise quiet Sunday winter morning, I heard a sound outside. The rumbling noise got louder and louder. I went to the window of my apartment to take a look...